University of Rochester General Law School Data

The following information is University of Rochester recent graduate and alumni law school admission data from 2018 – 2023.

In 2023, the average national LSAT was a 155.9 and cumulative undergraduate GPA was a 3.61. For acceptance into the Top 10 schools, the minimum national LSAT score and cumulative GPA required were a 172 and 3.85, respectively.

The below data represents University of Rochester recent graduates and alumni application data over a five-year period (2018-2023) regarding LSAT score, cumulative GPA, number of applicants, and acceptance rate.

	Undergrad	Alumni	Average Total
LSAT	159	160	160
GPA	3.56	3.35	3.41
Applied	20	49	69
Accepted	17	39	56
Acceptance %	85%	80%	81%
National acceptance rate is 41%

On average, 20 seniors and 49 alumni apply to law school each year, with most submitting between 5-6 applications. Applicants taking gap years attend law school, on average, 2-3 years after graduating with their undergraduate degrees.

University of Rochester seniors and alumni apply to many of the top schools in the country, with 50% matriculating in the Top 50 law schools. The following are the Top 5:

Applied
- George Washington University Law School
- Boston University Law School
- Georgetown University Law Center
- Boston College Law School
- Cornell Law School

Matriculated
- George Washington University Law School
- Georgetown University Law Center
- Syracuse University College of Law
- Washington University – St. Louis School of Law
- University of Michigan Law School