

Using Sun Devil Sync

Description: Your career plan will combine your education, interests, experience, and skills. Participating in activities that allow you to explore your interests is important as it can impact your career path and enable you to develop the skills necessary for the workforce further. The National Association of Colleges and Employers surveyed companies on the top skills needed to be considered career ready and found the highest requested skills:

Technology	Communication	Critical Thinking	Equity and Inclusion
Leadership	Teamwork	Professionalism	Career and Self Development

Being career-ready means possessing some strength in each of these eight career competencies. Getting thoughtful about your interests and joining extra-curricular activities such as clubs, coalitions, or professional associations, can allow you to develop some of these transferable skills and confirm your career path.

Goal:

- You will be able to explore and reflect on the variety of career development opportunities and provide steps for you to take to build transferable skills and become career ready.

Activity Instructions:

1. Explore Sun Devil Sync.
2. Select at least 3 clubs or events that you could attend and reflect on the insights and skills you might gain from that experience in relation to your career.

Experience 1:
Experience 2:
Experience 3:

3. Create a plan to attend one of the events or club meetings, including when the event is, how you will attend (in-person or virtual), and what you hope to gain from that experience.

Resources:

- Read about career competencies