- Expected Grad Date/Availability
- Background
- Enthusiasm

PAY ATTENTION

- Listen To Recruiters' Names
And Use Them In Conversation
- Say Thank You

On If Line Is Too Lone.)

REMEMBER

- DON'T Visit Employers/Booths
With Your Friends
- Be Respectful
- Don't Grab Goodies - Wait Until
Employers Offer Them

5) REFINE YOUR APPROACH

- Explore options: You don't know what you don't know: explore companies that you don't know of, or that you did not expect to visit with
- It's about the work, the culture and the skills you bring to the table, not just about your major
- Don't put all your eggs in one basket: continue the job search even after a great meeting or interview (until you accept a position, at which point you should not continue your search)
- Bag Drop and Coat Check: Student registration and bag drop/coat check both take place in the Student Senate Chambers. The bag drop is free
- If you already have accepted a position, consider volunteering and earning $$$ for your student organization - be on the lookout for an email to the student clubs

6) MAKE APPROPRIATE REQUESTS

- Ask smart questions that demonstrate your knowledge about the company
- Do your research on Handshake, company websites, and company social media for information on the company
- Don't mention negative headlines
- Show your interest by inquiring about the next step in the process after the fair
- Make notes about the conversation after you step away from the company's table
- Send a personalized e-mail thanking the recruiter within a day (or message through LinkedIn)

Good afternoon, Joe!

We met two days ago at the UK Engineering Career Fair, and after our conversation I submitted my resume online for the Fall 2025 Co-op position. I continue to be very interested in the position so I wanted to touch base to find out about the interviewing and hiring timeline for this position.

I am attaching my resume for your convenience, and I look forward to hearing from you soon! Thank you again for your time at the Career Fair.

Subject UKY Engr Senior - Do you have 10 minutes to chat Bell Flight Culture?

Good afternoon, Sarita!

Greetings from UK Engineering! I just graduated, and as a part of my continuing job search I'm researching Bell Flight/Bell Helicopter. I was excited to see UK alumni there - I would love to get ten minutes of your time to ask you a few questions about what you love about working at Bell and the company culture.

Could we set up ten minutes sometime this week or next week for a phone call/zoom call/facetime call?

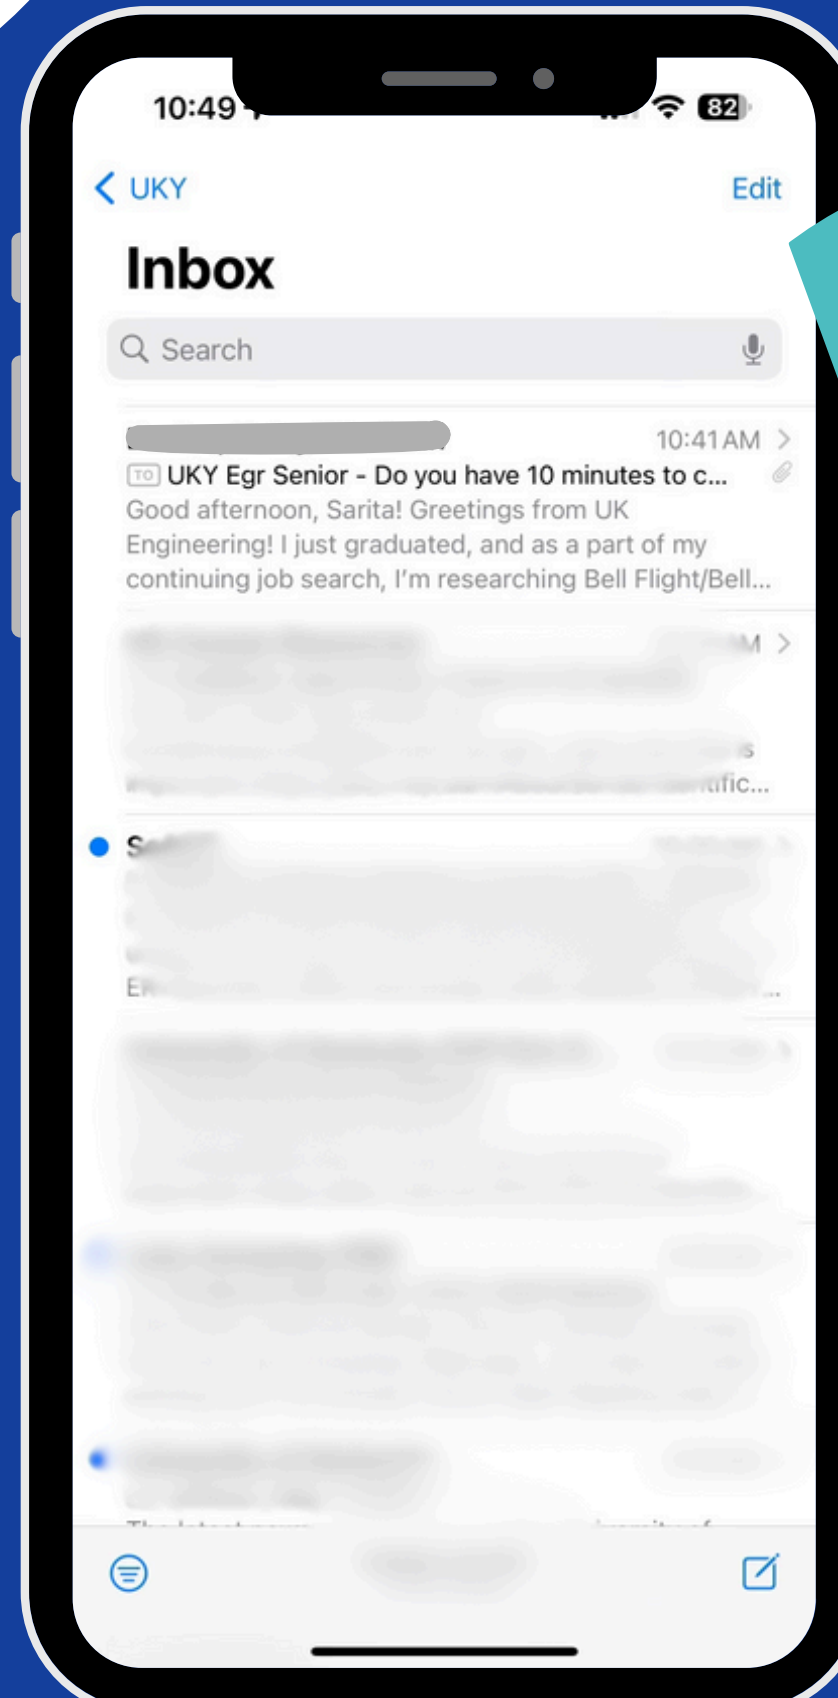

Thank you, and I look forward to hearing from you soon!

Sincerely,

RESUMES

You have unique selling points, transferrable skills, and developing technical skills. Once you learn how to get that down on paper in a way that showcases your “brand” and markets what you have to offer in a compelling way, future updates become easier!

RESUME FORMAT

Resumes aren't cookie cutter documents, but they do have common formats that insure that they are easy to read.

FONT CHOICE

Stick with common fonts. Do NOT use a fancy font!

FONT SIZE

12 - 10 is fine. But do not go smaller than font size 10.

MARGINS

Margins should never be less than 0.5.

THINGS TO AVOID WITH RESUMES

- HEADSHOTS - NO. Some companies will not consider resumes with photos.
- TEMPLATES from Word, Google, etc. - they look nice but usually do not handle formatting changes well.
- TEXT BOXES - these don't always play well with Applicant Tracking Software portals
- COLUMNS - These usually take entirely too much valuable white space
- COLOR - Stick with black/white. If you must add color, only use one color as an accent.

BAD TIKTOK ADVICE & WHAT TO KNOW ABOUT AI IN RESUMES & INTERVIEWS

BAD TIKTOK ADVICE

- White font in footers or headers or extra small font to get past the ATS. It's dishonest, and a really bad plan.
- Citing an NDA (nondisclosure agreement) when asked about a gap on your resume or LinkedIn history. Unless your work would have required that regularly, recruiters will know it's a lie.
- Generally speaking, a "quick and easy hack" could be problematic - do your research before deploying the hack.

IS THERE GOOD TIKTOK ADVICE?

Absolutely! Just like there are some great resources on Instagram as well. But read the comments - utilize google to see if it is, indeed, too good to be true. Following bad advice could harm you professionally. But following good advice may get you an edge in the job search process.

AI: LARGE LANGUAGE MODELS CHAT GPT, ETC.

- At its core, AI is a tool that can be deployed quickly and efficiently. (You are already seeing it every day: Expedia Chat Bot, Instacart, Duolingo, Slack, Salesforce, and more.)
- It can aid in searching for jobs with the right prompts and it can help with resume bullet creation and cover letter drafting, but it is NOT perfect, and there can be some ethical concerns about using it and/or what happens to the data you upload.
- Use it wisely - the data you input will be used to help with machine learning, large language modelling, etc.

REMEMBER

- Proofread, proofread, proofread! Typos can cost you opportunities.
 - Your resume at this point in time is no more than one page.
 - The exception: graduate school applications where you use a CV instead of a resume
 - Your resume is a living, breathing document - you update it with new experiences, new opportunities, and transferrable skills
