

THE CLASS CHRONICLES

CAREER READINESS COMPETENCIES

LEADERSHIP

When looking to hire a new employee, companies are interested in the skills each candidate brings to the table. Career readiness competencies are the primary skills employers look for when hiring. We are starting the semester with leadership! As one of the eight competencies, leadership focuses on recognizing and capitalizing both personal and team strengths to achieve organizational goals. Learn more about how to improve your leadership HERE.

Sample behaviors that apply to leadership include:

- Inspiring, persuading, and motivating self and others under a shared vision.
- Using innovative thinking to go beyond traditional methods.
- Serving as a role model to others by approaching tasks with confidence and a positive attitude.
- Motivating and inspiring others by encouraging them and building mutual trust.
- Seeking out and leveraging diverse resources and feedback from others to inform direction.

CAREER CENTER SPOTLIGHTS

MEET CLARENCE SUTTON!

Originally from Tuscaloosa, AL, I come to UNT by way of Baton Rouge, LA. I have my B.S. in Business Management from Alabama State University and my MPA from Louisiana State University. I have lived in various locations included Syracuse, NY, Memphis, TN, and Washington, D.C. In each of these locations I have had the opportunity to become involved in various community organizations and projects. I have developed a passion for helping students as I strive to help them translate their skills and experiences into internships and job opportunities. I have worked with various political and policy organizations including Louisiana's Public Affairs Research Council, The Southern Education Foundation, The Congressional Black Caucus, and various projects throughout Alabama's 7th Congressional District. My experiences have allowed me to work with very diverse populations, which has enhanced my love for equity, inclusion, and people in general. When I am not at UNT I enjoy watching Netflix and spending time outdoors and live by the motto that "Life is about people. If you learn how to treat people fairly and communicate with them effectively, you will be successful."
