

CAREER READINESS COMPETENCIES

TEAMWORK

When looking to hire a new employee, companies are interested in the skills each candidate brings to the table. Career readiness competencies are the primary skills employers look for when hiring. This month, we are highlighting teamwork! This competency focuses on both building and maintaining collaborative relationships to work effectively toward common goals, all while appreciating the diverse viewpoints and shared responsibilities of the team. Learn more about how to improve your teamwork HERE.

Sample behaviors that apply to teamwork include:

- Listening carefully to others, taking time to understand and ask appropriate questions without interrupting.
- Being accountable for individual and team responsibilities and deliverables.
- Building strong, positive working relationships with supervisors and team members or coworkers.
- Effectively manage conflict, interacting with and respect diverse personalities, and meeting ambiguity with resilience.

MEET SHUNTA THOMAS!

I'm honored to serve as the Associate Director in the Career Center, working with 10,000+ students in College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences, College of Visual Arts and Design, and Mayborn College of Journalism. Our team is committed to coaching students to success through career readiness, including self and career exploration, intentional engagement, and creative programming. We accomplish this goal with full collaboration of our college communities. I believe excellence is achieved through curiosity, hard-work, and a commitment to never give up. I am a teacher, mentor, leader, community advocate, and most importantly, a wife and mom of four beautiful children. My expertise is business and instructional leadership. Prior to my time at University of North Texas, I worked at American Airlines, most recently at Global Headquarters as Manager of Sales Development and Training. Before this time, I was an Assistant Principal in Lewisville Independent School District and a business manager at State Farm's corporate headquarters. I have a Bachelor of Science in Accounting, and a master's degree in Business Administration, along with an Instructional Leadership certification in the state of Texas. I have a strong history of leadership, innovation, and success globally. I'm very Proud to now be a UNT eagle!
