

CAREER READINESS COMPETENCIES

What are Career Readiness Competencies?

Career readiness is life readiness and is the key to ensuring a successful entrance in the workforce. There are eight career readiness competencies that are transferable across all occupations and industries. When looking to hire a new employee, companies are interested in the skills each candidate brings to the table and career readiness competencies are the primary skills employers look for when hiring.

LEADERSHIP

Leadership focuses on the ability to recognize and capitalize on personal and team strengths to achieve organizational goals. This includes leveraging the strengths of others to achieve common goals and using strong interpersonal skills to develop others. Learn more about what leadership looks like HERE.

How do I grow my leadership?

CAREER CENTER SPOTLIGHTS

MEET MAYA MCMILLIAN!

Hey y'all! My name is Maya McMillian, and I serve media arts majors (including CBCM) across all classifications. As a Career Coach for the College of Liberal Arts & Social Sciences, I look forward to serving UNT students throughout their professional journeys. I received my B.A. in Communications with a digital media focus from The University of Texas at San Antonio (Birds Up!) and my M.Ed. in Higher Education here at UNT (Go Mean Green!). While serving for a year as a graduate assistant in the Career Center for the Ryan College of Business, I developed a passion for career services which led to my pursuit of a career coach position. My favorite part of career coaching is teaching students how to strengthen their writing for their application documents, so they are comfortable enough to carry out the task on their own. When I'm not at UNT, I enjoy watching sci-fi/horror films, attending concerts, and traveling! Three words that best describe me are thoughtful, witty and adaptable. It's been an honor working with and learning from CLASS students, and a joy to witness their growth.
